URBAN RENEWAL TALKS ABOUT RELOCATION HOUSING

What Is Section 221?

It is a mortgage insurance program of the Federal Government under a special section of the National Housing Act to help private industry provide low-cost relocation for sale or rent, thru new or existing construction. The program authorizes liberal terms for private financing of low-cost relocation housing for eligible displaced families and offers attractive opportunities for builders and lenders to participate in the undertaking.

What Are 221 Financing Terms?

The most favorable terms generally available under the National Housing Act may be obtained under Section 221 for the purchase of low-cost homes. The mortgage loan may be 100 per cent of FHA appraised value, with a maximum of $9,000 for any dwelling ($10,000 in high-cost areas). The maximum mortgage maturity is 40 years. Eligible buyers of single family homes need put up only $200 down payment, any or all of which may be used to cover closing costs. If the $200 cannot be raised at the outset, the seller may work out a short-term deferred payment arrangement for the displaced family.

What Is The Allowable Interest Rate on 221 Mortgages?

5% percent, plus FHA's standard one-half percent mortgage insurance premium. On mortgages of $5,000 or under an additional one-half percent service charge also is permitted to be assessed against the borrower.

When Is 221 Applicable?

When the Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency finds that a need exists for low-cost housing, new and used, for the relocation of families who are displaced as a result of urban renewal or other governmental activities and makes a certification of need to the Commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration. What are the prerequisites for a 221 Certification?

A community is eligible for 221 housing assistance under these conditions: if it has a federally approved Workable Program for Urban Renewal; an approved urban renewal project that is part of its recovery from a major disaster; or if it has a redevelopment project which received approval for Federal aid before August 2, 1954. What Action Does The Displaced Family Take?

Interested families must obtain certificates of eligibility for 221 mortgage insurance from the community government, or the proper agency concerned with displacement. A family presents this certificate to the seller, builder, or lender it chooses in buying a home. Certificate holders are also given priority of opportunity in renting units available under the 221 rental housing program.

What Families Are Eligible For 221 Housing?

Families in urban renewal areas and those displaced as a result of "governmental action." This has broad coverage; it takes in families displaced from official renewal areas and those leaving voluntarily. It also includes families displaced or to be displaced because of governmental construction such as highways, public buildings, playgrounds, low-cost housing projects, construction by quasi-public bodies such as State universities; code enforcement; victims of over-income tenants from low-rent public housing projects, etc.

What Type of Housing Can Be Insured Under 221?

Single-family dwellings, whether newly built, rehabilitated, or existing construction, and multifamily structures of 10 or more units, new or proposed for rehabilitation.

Additional information may be obtained at the office of the Authority, 418 Main Street, Wilmington, Phone OLiver 8-8531.

Recreation News

The Wilmington Townies defeated the Merri-Macs in the final games of the playoffs to clinch their second playoff win in two years. The Merri-Macs after winning 12 straight games in regular season play which gave them first place in the league standing failed to come through in the final games. Manager Bob Baker was pleased with this seasons record but had to bow to Manager Sam Ethier who guided his team to victory in the final series. Fine pitching on the part of O'Brien and Dick Ethier stopped the Merri-Macs and some timely hitting combined to make the victories possible. This marks the close of the regular Recreation Softball season which has just completed its fourth successful year.

Mr. Joseph Gilligan will be available for tennis instruction at the High School courts each week-day evening for any interested adults. This is a feature of the recreation playground program and will continue until August 15.

All recreation activities will cease on August 15th with the exception of the beach program which will continue until the day after Labor Day. Miss Sharp, a supervisor of the playgrounds, will display materials that were created in the regular arts and crafts.

Wilmingtonites Meet A Thousand Miles From Home

Quite by chance a group of Wilmington citizens met while vacationing a thousand miles away in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nickerson of Woburn St., were spending an enjoyable two weeks vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson D'eon of Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia. They were accompanied by their three sons, Charles, Richard and Joseph.

While driving toward the home of Mr. and Mrs. D'eon, one of the boys thought he spotted a friend walking along the roadside. Upon closer investigation, it was proven that the boy was correct, "sure nuff," there was Freddie Syverson, who is practically a "next door neighbor." Freddie and his mother, Mrs. Helen Syverson, were stopping at a near-by motel on their way back from Halifax.

During the remainder of their vacation, the group enjoyed several outings and returned home on the same boat.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEMBERS OBJECT TO SELECTMAN'S REMARKS

Objecting to remarks made at last week's selectmen's meeting by Chairman Frank Hagerty, as published in newspaper accounts of the meeting, two members of the Board of Health, Chairman Augustus Walker and Mrs. Marion Boylen, signed a statement which clarifies their position regarding the dump.

The third member, Vinal Lewis, abstained from signing.

The Board of Health statement follows:

The newspaper reports of a week ago state that Frank Hagerty flew into a tizzy over the Board of Health's request for an additional $3,000 to extend the town dump contract at the Caneles farm. Mr. Hagerty was reported as saying that the Board of Health has been "throwing the town's money away" and "has foolishly tried to get a land fill dump into operation." Mr. Hagerty also stated that "the town should take a 3-5 year contract with Caneles and that under such circumstances the town could get a contract for $6,500-$7,000 a year, compared to the present cost of $10,000 a year.

The most direct way of answering these accusations and showing that it is Mr. Hagerty who is "foolish" in wanting a long term contract is to explain what the Board of Health is trying to do, and why.

For some time the Town has been in poor position with respect to its public dumping facilities. At present the town dump is located at MacDonald Road, at the Caneles farm. Although Mr. Caneles is running his dump to the satisfaction of the Board of Health, the operation suffers from a number of the following should be mentioned:

(1) The dump is one of the "open faced" type with daily burning. This type of operation is not desirable for a town of Wilmington's size and growth rate since it is impossible to prevent smoke and odors from polluting the air.

(2) The dump is expensive; the cost this year was $10,000, a figure which the Board of Health likes as little as Mr. Hagerty. However, it is not the town which sets the rate, it is Mr. Caneles, and as long as he has the only dump the town is forced to pay whatever he asks.

In remedying this situation, the Board of Health's approach has been two fold. With respect to the cost it is obvious that the town is in the best position when two independent sites are available and the owners bid against each other for the contract. This not only insures a low price but also means that the owner (who will no longer have a monopoly on the dump) will be more apt to cooperate with town officials.

The second consideration of the Board of Health was to obtain the best possible type of dump for the town. After thorough investigation the board was unanimous in its opinion that a sanitary land fill dump under the strict control of the Board of Health was clearly the best. No burning is permitted in this kind of dump. The rubbish is placed in trenches which are covered with fill at the end of each day. Such a dump is not a nuisance even to the closest abutters and is often used as a means of filling and reclaiming undesirable land. Projects like this have been successful in many towns and could be successful in Wilmington.

Shortly after coming to these conclusions the board was approached by Mr. Spinzola, owner of the Blue Hog Farm in South Wilmington on the question of setting up a dump in this area. From the start Mr. Spinzola agreed to run the dump as a sanitary land fill under strict control of the Board of Health. The proposed contract also gave more protection to the town than does the Caneles contract.

tract, because Spinzola had the necessary equipment, (and still does); trucks, bulldozers and two shovels) and fill already in his property, and because his site was large enough to permit the dumping of some out of town rubbish he was able to offer the town a price of $4,000 a year for the town dump. Since this is less than one half of the present cost (and about 60% of the yearly cost of a 5 year contract with Mr. Caneles according to Mr. Hagerty.) The Board of Health was interested for purely financial reasons. Furthermore the location, ease of access, type of operation and control by the town were all ideal.

In consideration of all this the Board of Health decided to give Spinzola a license to operate the town dump as a sanitary land fill on the expiration of Caneles' contract June 30, 1958. It is at this point that as Mr. Hagerty so nicely put it, someone started kicking the thing around. The events are not clear, but it appears that following things happened:

(1) Spinzola did not apply for his bond and liability insurance until sometime in June even though the bond and insurance were exceptionally large.

(2) Although Mr. Spinzola was able to get the required bond (Mr. Hagerty notwithstanding) he was unable to secure the liability insurance as required by the town before the expiration of Caneles' contract. Since the Spinzola dump would save the town a considerable amount of money it was worthwhile to wait before signing the contract with Caneles in the hope that Spinzola would get the necessary insurance.

When he failed to do so by June 30 the board was forced to extend Caneles' license for the rest of the year at his price of $5,000.

At this moment the situation is as follows:

(1) A license to operate a sanitary land fill dump has been issued to Spinzola contingent on his supplying the necessary bonds and insurance. This puts Spinzola in position to bid for the town contract when Caneles' expires in Jan., 1959.

(2) Mr. Hagerty seems to favor a long term contract (3-5 years) with Caneles even though the yearly cost would be $2,000 to $3,000 higher than Spinzola's first bid.

(3) The majority of the Board of Health feel that the type of operation, the cost and contract agreed to by Spinzola are so advantageous to the town that it would be "foolish" to squeeze him out by signing a long term contract with Caneles, even if it could legally be done.

Signed,
Augustus C. Walker,
Chairman
Marion C. Boylen

Tunney's Truck In Accident

At 3:50 pm on Monday, July 28, Tunney's Furniture Truck which was being operated by Thomas Adams, Jr., of Tewksbury was parked before Tunney's store on Main St.

The brakes on the vehicle became dislodged, allowing it to roll backward down the hill striking a telephone pole. The impact pulled several of the light wires off Tunney's Building.

After hitting the pole, the truck continued on its backward journey and struck the building occupied by the Merrimack Cleaners, breaking two large plate glass windows.

There was extensive damage to the truck, but no personal injuries were reported. Sgt. Shepherd and Officer Kelley investigated the incident.

"Gen. Vandergriff Day"

Marine recruiters throughout a three-state area will be accepting enlistments for a special platoon of recruits to leave Boston on August 9, according to Technical Sergeant John McCarthy, the local Marine recruiter.

The "General Vandergriff Platoon," to be composed of 100 enlistees from Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, will be sworn into the Corps as a unit in Boston by General Alexander A. Vandergriff, USMC (Ret.), former Commandant of the Marine Corps. The swearing-in will take place on August 9, which has been designated as "General Vandergriff Day" by the Mayor of Boston. On this same day thousands of former members of the First Marine Division will honor the General at the 11th Annual Reunion of the First Marine Division Association which was formed 11 years ago in Boston.

General Vandergriff, Honorary President of the Association, led the First Marine Division in America's first major offensive of World War II, the invasion of Guadalcanal. For his valor in combat there the nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor, later he commanded the invasion forces at Bougainville before returning to the States to become the 18th Commandant of the Marine Corps.

The swearing-in ceremony will be held on the Boston Common shortly after 11:30 a.m. immediately preceding the Memorial Service of the First Marine Division Association. Parents and friends, as well as the general public, are invited to witness both ceremonies.

Accepted enlistees for the platoon will train at Parris Island, S. C., together as a unit. After graduation from recruit training they will report for advanced training at Camp Lejeune, N. C., following which they'll return home on leave.

The local Marine Recruiting Station is located at the Post Office in Lowell.

Marines To Celebrate

More than 2,000 Marines and former Marines who served in the highly-decorated First Marine Division will come to Boston from all over the nation on August 8, 9 and 10 for their 11th Annual Reunion.

The 1st Corps Cadets Army will be the site for the Reunion events of the First Marine Division Association.

The Association, formed 11 years ago in Boston, had as its first President Lieutenant Colonel John I. Fitzgerald, USMC, a local businessman, who headed the 1938 Boston Reunion Committee. The main purpose of the Association is to foster and perpetuate the spirit and comradeship born of service in the First Marine Division.

Activated in 1941, the Division fought in the island-hopping campaign of World War II, launching at Guadalcanal the first successful counter-offensive of the war. Later came the battles for Cape Gloucester, Peleliu and Okinawa.

Five years later the First Marine Division was called on to stem the Red tide of aggression in Korea and, in so doing, was decorated with the Presidential Unit Citation three times.

Together with the three PUC's received during World War II this makes a total of six. It is believed that no other division's colors by six Presidential Unit Citations, which is the highest decoration which can be awarded to a military unit.

In addition, 60 Medals of Honor the country's highest personal decoration, have been awarded to members of the First Marine Division.

Since the first Reunion in Boston, the First Marine Division Association has met yearly in major cities throughout the country on the weekend closest to the August 7th anniversary of the Guadalcanal landing in 1942.

The Association established a scholarship fund in 1952 and has since awarded six scholarship grants to dependents of deceased Marines. Two additional scholarships will be awarded this year.

Colonel Lewis W. Walt, USMC, the Assistant Director of Personnel, Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington, D. C., is the present President of the First Marine Division Association.

Wildwood, New Jersey, leader: "If a potential customer comes and looks and does not buy, it simply means that in all probability he has found some fault with the merchandise or with the price at which it is offered for sale. That which may not be the fault of the distributor or the manufacturer, factory management, or labor unions or labor leaders—all of which probably figure in the economic readjustments which so plainly exist."

Civil War Centennial

Washington, D. C. — A call for Massachusetts and all other states to form their own commissions to cooperate in the planning and coordination of the forthcoming Civil War Centennial, regardless of their status at the time of the conflict, was made here today by Major General U. S. Grant, 3rd.

Speaking as chairman of the newly-created National Commission, he said the success of the undertaking will depend largely upon unified and concerted effort on the part of all the states now making up the Union.

"We expect this observance to be the greatest pageant in our history," he added. "No matter whether a geographical division of the United States at the time of the Civil War was a state, a territory, or an unnamed area embraced in the borders of another state, we want its participation. The lessons in bravery, determination and perseverance exemplified for us on both sides apply as much to the people of one state today as to another."

The names of only four present-day states—North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wyoming—fail to appear in the indexed official records of the war. Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Washington were listed as territories.

"Their status then does not bar them from participation in the forthcoming observance," General Grant explained. "The war may not have been fought within their borders, but their residents are tied in with the war through heritage. Moreover, they can help us attain a major objective of the Centennial—the collection and safe storage of letters, diaries, journals and all other documents of historic value concerning the war. Many of these, we believe, were carried west in trunks and other containers as people migrated toward the frontier in the closing decades of the last century. By forming its own commission, each state will be taking the surest step by which to bring about this goal."

A resolution calling for the formation of centennial commissions in each state was introduced at the recent annual Governors' Conference in Florida by Virginia's Governor J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., and was adopted unanimously. Already some 30 states have appointed these groups or are in the process of doing so.

Some states must await such time as required legislative action can be taken to set up these commissions and, in the meantime, have appointed liaison representatives to maintain contact with the National Commission. These are California, Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Wyoming, Washington and Wisconsin.

In its initial plans, the National Commission, now set up with headquarters at 700 Jackson Place, N. W., almost directly in front of the White House, has made it clear that the actual planning of individual observances shall be carried out at the grassroots level. Each state, county and community will be expected to work out its own program, at the same time maintaining contact with the Commission at Washington and keeping in mind the historical dates involved in the particular phase of the war with which it is concerned.

Within the near future, Civil War Round Tables over the nation as well as civic, patriotic and historical groups, will be called on to aid in promoting a truly national centennial program. Many of these already have written the Commission here offering their services.

Education groups, such as the U. S. Office of Education, the National Education Association, National Society for the Study of Education, and the American Council on Education, will be asked to assist with the planning in their particular field. Special education programs will be arranged to coincide with the highlight events scheduled by the National Commission throughout the four years of observance.

In addition, travel groups, including the American Automobile Association and the National Association of Travel Organizations, have had several conferences with Karl S. Betts, executive director of the Centennial Commission, and are working out individual programs to tie in with the national effort. Through their publications, they are encouraging members to familiarize themselves and residents of their respective areas with the plans of the Commission, especially as it regards reenactments, pageants and special commemorations in the battle areas of the war.

Moreover, as long as two years ago, the Federal Government, with the blessing of President Eisenhower, honorary chairman of the commission, began steps for the entertainment during the Centennial years of an unprecedented 80,000,000 visitors to the national park areas. The National Park Service, to provide for this greatly increased tourist travel and also to execute projected improvements in the park properties, worked out a special program, known as Mission 66, that received early approval from Congress. It is now in operation, and already the staffs and park facilities of the entire national system have been greatly augmented. Many of the projects, especially in battle sites, will be timed for completion to coincide with historic incidents to be commemorated during the observance.

Record Ship Replacement Program

As is generally known, leading American steamship lines are, and long have been, provided with differential subsidies by the Government. This simply recognizes the fact that it costs much more to build, maintain and operate merchant ships in this country than in the other maritime nations with which we compete for cargoes.

The subsidies are given under very strict terms. For example, the ships must regularly ply trade routes considered essential by the Government. They must be manned with American crews. And the lines are required to replace a ship after 20 years.

This means, according to a Wall Street Journal article, that "the nation's leading steamship lines are launching the biggest search for ship financing in their history."
Specifically, the lines will have to build more than 300 new vessels in the next 10 to 12 years - the largest peacetime replacement program in our history. And the cost to the lines, over and above Government contributions, will be more than a billion dollars at the minimum. Some shipping men think the actual figure may run as high as two billion.

Thus the differential subsidies don't just automatically solve the lines' economic problems. The national security and welfare demand that we have a big, modern U. S. flag Merchant Marine. And the steamship lines have to be on their toes to see that the demand is met.

Here And There

It has been decided by the Wilmington Youth Canteen that they will hold their last dance for the summer on August 9, at the Wildwood School.

Because the school has to be put into preparation for the September classes, the dances will not be held until sometime in the latter part of September.

Admission to this last dance will be 50c, and refreshments will be served. This dance will be properly chaperoned. The hours will be from 8-11 p.m., and many favorite records will be played.

The 4-H Vigilantes held a meeting at Clark's Farm on Sat. Aug. 2. Final plans were made for the pony rides at Sunnyhurst Dairy on Aug. 3. The proceeds will be turned over to the "Jimmy Fund".

At this meeting, it was also planned to hold a Horse Show at Clark's Farm on September 6. These proceeds will be turned over to the Hospital Fund. Be sure to attend and bring the kiddies.

Attention 4-H Vigilantes: Don't forget the 4-H Fair to be held in Westwood. It will be held on August 22, 23, and 24th. All members are urged to attend in order that there will be a good turn-out from our town. Please contact Mrs. Clark, at OL 8-2523 for further details.

There will be a meeting and breakfast for the congregation of the Ahabath Achim D'Aaron Synagogue. It will be held on Sunday, August 10th at 9:30 a.m. at the Synagogue Hall.

Any interested persons are cordially welcome.

Well, the Legion cook-out is over - it was a beautiful day. Those who attended had a wonderful time, and those who missed out on it were indeed unfortunate. Yes, the weather was fine, the food wonderful and the hospitality was great.

Food was served approximately at noon, with everyone getting their fill. Lobsters were plentiful and fine. Hot dogs, corn on the cob were even better for the small fry. Steamed clams, and watermelon was enjoyed by all. And then coffee and tonic were served to wash it all down.

The men of this organization did a fine job to see that all had plenty to eat and all the activities were planned for all those in any age group.

Special thanks should be given to Frank Thebeau for his chairmanship. He would like to thank all those on the committee who helped to make this affair such a fine success.

The races for the children were first on the roster. The winners were as follows: Girls, ages 2-4 years, Deborah Breen; 5-8 years, Deborah Gravelle; 8-12 years, Esther Block. Boys, ages 2-4 years, Larry Doucette; 5-8 years, Peter Pellerin; 8-12 years, Curt Pellerin.

The married women then had a contest to see who could throw a rolling pin the furthest. The winner was Marie Diaz.

The girls then joined to have a three-legged race. In the 4-6 age group the winners were Virginia Boudreau and Lorraine Boudreau.

All winners of every race were given a silver dollar for their efforts. Honorary guests included: George Spanos, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lynch.

Mrs. Blanche Blanchette of 904 Main Street is confined to St. John's Hospital, Lowell. All her friends and neighbors wish her a speedy recovery.

The Silver Lake Betterment held a party on July 30th. The door prize was won by Paul Lanoue; and the special prize was won by May Sullivan.

Other winners included: Paul Lanoue, Pearl Hamlett, G. Cassano, D. Cassano, E. Eliman, Louise Thomas, Theresa Foss, Leanne Lanoue, Alice Carroll, Alice Brown, E. Crehan, S. Batchelder, M. Jackson, R. Carey, Helen Ryne, Lucy Millett, Carmen Sander, Mr. Perron, Jan Charnock, Irene Batchelder, and G. Baldwin. The next party will be held on August 27th.

The sea explorers held another meeting on Thursday, July 31, to further prepare their boat for launching. Batteries for the motor were generously supplied by the Wilmington Ford Dealers.

It is planned to launch this boat in the near future.

Joe Roselli, a member of this fine club has joined the Navy, and it is expected that he will make a fine sailor. He has been with the sea explorer for two years.

Most of us are unaware that the 4-H clubs of our town have a great many arts and crafts classes. Most of our attention has been drawn to the Vigilantes or the Trail Blazers.

There are other fine projects to be undertaken, if only there were more people willing to give up a little of their spare time. Yes, this town needs volunteers to teach children sewing, knitting, all about livestock, and to operate a honey-bee club.

Experience is unnecessary as the extension service will supply all literature and send an agent to set up such a project.

Men and women with a willingness to help are in need to make these clubs active again. Anyone interested please contact Mrs. Mortelli OL 8-4462, town chairman.

The 4-H clubs will hold a rally in September to award credits to members for their work last year. A new year begins in September and volunteers may consider and decide before then.

The Right Of Free Choice

The National Conference on Labor Health Services recently met in Washington, D. C. A series of speakers strongly criticized the medical profession, as represented by the American Medical Association. Back of this line is a long-standing controversy which may be complicated in some of its details but is simple in principle. Certain unions, through their health and welfare funds, are "merchandising" medical care. The principal fund, that of the United Mine Workers, covers 250,000 workers and their families and owns and operates 10 hospitals staffed with salaried doctors. The unions, with their control of the money, are able to control the type of services rendered, who will render them, and the amount paid for those services.

The crux of the problem is that the beneficiary is denied a basic right - that is, the right to choose his own physician, and, if he so wishes, to change that physician when he feels that another can give him better care. He must accept the type of service rendered.

cept the physician selected by the Fund. Often he must travel considerable distances to obtain the services of Fund-approved doctors, and that in itself is a deterrent to good medical care. And the monopolistic controls exerted by the Fund discourage well-qualified doctors from entering or remaining in practice in the areas concerned.

The medical profession's position on this matter is one of the basic principals. It insists on the right of the patient to choose his own doctor. And this right, it has been accurately pointed out, has been almost as much a part of our traditional freedoms as the right to choose one's own religion, or to speak or vote as one pleases.

A Man-made Miracle

The Salk vaccine is a modern miracle - for those who use it. But for the Salk vaccine, thousands of men, women and children were working, running, playing and working would be in hospitals and treatment centers trying desperately to regain the use of ruined arms and legs. These people are still sound, whole human beings because they protected themselves against polio paralysis by three shots of vaccine.

Actually, there is nothing miraculous about the miracle of the Salk vaccine. The vaccine introduces into the blood stream tiny doses of polio virus so weakened that it can no longer cause paralysis. But this "killed" virus still has enough pep to produce the antibodies that fight back against the polio virus.

Then, when the polio virus enters the body, the antibodies go to work. The result might be at worst a slight fever or a slight sore throat and, after a day or two, the system is back to normal. The antibodies have won the fight against the deadly little virus.

The miracle of the Salk vaccine is a man-made miracle. It was made by men who delved deeply into nature's mysteries to find out what caused polio, and then used nature's own protective forces to combat the crippling so often caused by the disease in the past. The vaccine merely triggers the body's own defensive mechanism. Once started, these mechanisms can win the fight almost every time.

Take advantage of this modern miracle. Get your polio shots now.

Help For Premature Infants

The science of dietetics, like many other sciences, has made great strides in a comparatively short period of time. A vast literature of new knowledge and information has been gained.

The attitude toward meat in the diet has undergone particularly significant change. It used to be believed, for instance, that meat was not needed by the elderly, and might actually prove harmful to them. Now the dieticians know that meat - with its high protein content and other values - is essential to the mental and physical well-being of practically all people of all ages. And meat - properly prepared, in proper quantity and of the proper kind - has proven to be of outstanding value in promoting recovery from many illnesses.

A fresh testimonial to meat's worth in dieting with specific health problems appears in the June edition of the Journal of Diseases of Children, an American Medical Association publication. Written by two doctors, its point is that anemia and iron deficiencies in premature infants can be partially overcome with the early addition of meat to their diet. This dietary supplement, given within two to four weeks after birth, has particular value in increasing red cell volume and circulating hemoglobin mass and building iron reserves. The study is based on a year-long test, and the authors say that "strained meats were well tolerated by all infants, and frequent gastric distress associated with the administration of medicinal iron was avoided."

Medicine—American Style

In the Soviet Union medicine is socialized, as is everything else of any consequence. Recent information indicates that the Russians have been making significant progress in increasing the life span, and in certain other health fields.

However, we would be making a grave mistake if we assumed that the progress is due to socialization. Speaking editorially, the New York Times observes: "The sharp decline in mortality that Russia's current statistics show is in part the result of the relatively youthful composition of the population as compared with earlier periods. Soviet medical care, of course, is not 'free,' but simply paid for through tax revenues. Moreover, Soviet sources acknowledge that many of their citizens prefer to consult their doctors privately aware that those doctors will spend more time with and be more thorough in working with a patient who is paying a fee than can be in the ten minutes allocated each patient visiting a state clinic. The Soviet medical system has improved during the past forty years, but we may doubt that it comes anywhere near the standard to which our people have become accustomed."

The Times' point applies to the other countries in which socialized medicine prevails, England included. In every case, doctors are overworked and are unable to give the proper amount of attention to those in real need. Time and opportunity for experiment in the all-important field of preventive medicine have been sadly reduced. And the cost to the state, which means, the taxpayers—is enormous.

"Free medicine," American style, through voluntary health insurance programs, has been of greater service to more people than any authoritarian system ever devised.

Watering Lawns And Gardens

Now that the hot weather is here, it is all important to supply enough water to your lawn and garden. It's no secret that the past spring has been one of the coldest and wettest on record. This type of weather is very conducive to good growth. As a result, lawn and garden plants are lush and used to getting large supplies of water.

The hot weather along with the drying winds has depleted soil moisture considerably, in spite of the wet spring. When applying water to the lawn or garden be sure to apply enough to soak the soil to the root length of the plants. The amount of water to apply will vary with the type of soil, the type and size of the plant, temperature, and humidity. All of these factors affect loss of water from the soil.

The most important thing to avoid is light sprinklings. These can do more harm than good. Light sprinklings encourage shallow rooting. Shallow rooted plants are less able to withstand drought conditions.

The best time to apply water to your lawn or garden is when the plants need water. Some people claim it is better to water early in the morning. Others say it is better in the evening. Applying water in the evening leaves the plants wet all night and makes them more susceptible to diseases. In either case be sure to avoid light sprinkling. When applying water make sure the soil is wet at least six inches down.

Two Pictures To Remember

Two pictures for parents to remember appeared in recent newspapers.

One showed a mother and seven children gathered about a man in an iron lung. The caption, under a Michigan dateline, said that the whole family had been vaccinated against polio except the father. Now he is so paralyzed that he cannot breathe without mechanical aid.

The other showed an infant of five months in a respirator tank. The caption, datelined from Texas, said that the baby was a victim of polio paralysis.

What does a father think when he gazes up from an iron lung into the sorrowing, bewildered

"Ridiculous And Illogical"

A large group of leading American oil companies have been indicted on the grounds that they participated in a conspiracy to raise crude oil prices and "fix" product prices.

The head of one of those companies has branded the complaint as "ridiculous and illogical." He added: "It must be remembered that the indictment is simply a statement of charges, which we know is incorrect. We stand ready to prove in our American courts our complete innocence of these charges."

Then he made a telling point. His company, like others, buys crude on the open market, much from small independent producers. So he asks: "Why should we be expected to increase the price of our own raw material? It would be just as ridiculous for a housewife to feed her family - to conspire with her neighbors to pay higher prices for the additional garden vegetables she may need."

The question remained as to why crude oil prices went up last year, and product prices followed. The answer to that is simple. For nine years prior to 1957 there was only one 10 per cent general increase in the crude price. In those years the cost of wages, materials and just about everything else skyrocketed. Eventually, something had to give, either crude oil prices had to rise, or the search for and development of new crude oil reserves had to end. Fortunately for the security and welfare of this country, a moderate increase took place in crude prices, and exploration for oil to meet our insatiable demand for oil products continued. As for product prices, they inevitably followed. Crude is the oil industry's raw material - and in any enterprise finished product prices must bear a direct relationship to raw material prices.

Self-Propelled Socialism

A short time ago Kenneth L. Scott, director of Agricultural Services of the Department of Agriculture, made an extremely revealing factual statement. Here it is: "The major purpose of the Rural Electrification Act was to provide central station service to rural areas that did not have such service. Central station service has been extended to most all rural areas. The service areas of many of these rural electric systems which originally were largely farming communities have changed greatly during the 22 years since REA was established. These rural systems now are adding about 100,000 new customers annually with nonfarm rural consumers outnumbering farmers 3 to 1. About one-half the power sales are now made to non farm consumers."

Here is a perfect example of how government agencies not only keep in business after the jobs for which they were created have been completed - but keep on growing and fattening.

Moreover, REA is fattening at the expense of the taxpayers generally, in both direct and indirect ways. REA is free of major tax burdens levied on private commercial enterprise. REA gets loans from the government at interest rates below those the government must pay when it borrows money. And REA takes customers away from business-managed power companies which are among the country's largest and most dependable taxpayers.

The least we can demand of REA is that it pay its own way, that is keep to its original authorized purpose, and that it stay out of service areas which have nothing to do with rural electrification.

POLIO NEWS

The Middlesex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, now known as The National Foundation, looks forward with keen anticipation of participation in its broad new health program, John P. Whyte, Chapter Chairman said today.

Returning from Boston where volunteer leaders of the National Foundation in this area attended a closed circuit telecast at which Basil O'Connor, President, outlined the new objectives of the organization supported by the March of Dimes, Mr. Whyte called the widened purposes of the National Foundation "an exciting new concept in the health field."

The National Foundation, while continuing its winning fight against polio, plans to expand its activities to include a wide range of health problems. Initial new goals will be arthritis and birth defects (congenital malformations). Virus research and investigations of disorders of the central nervous system will be expanded.

"Our Chapter will continue to meet its obligations to polio patients in Middlesex County for as long as they need assistance," Mr. Whyte said. "Mr. O'Connor made it very clear that this is our primary responsibility. But the idea of a voluntary association dedicated to improvement of man's health, ready and able to move in whatever direction scientific discoveries lead it, not confined to a single disease, is a tremendous challenge."

"The flexible force the National Foundation now will become is the result of 20 years of pioneering and achievement by scientists and laymen throughout the nation. It will be a privilege to help launch this new program." Financial support for the new program will be sought through the traditional March of Dimes in January. Mr. Whyte emphasized, adding that additional responsibilities undoubtedly will mean additional need for funds in Middlesex County, as elsewhere.

"We must prepare this January to meet new financial commitments," he declared. "We shall attempt to move into the new areas of patient aid overnight. A great deal of hard study and work is ahead for those of us in the Chapter, preparing to deal with the new problems of arthritis and birth defects." Mr. O'Connor indicated that precise information about these two areas is not yet available; one of the first things Mr. Chapter must do is learn how many such patients there are, what facilities we have for giving them care and the availability of qualified professional workers to do the job. Plans are being made to do national headquarters to help us gather this information.

"Our patient aid program for children through 18 who have arthritis and certain birth defects will be developed as we learn these things and is subject, of course, to the willingness of people in Middlesex County to give sufficient financial support for the program."

"Our research program, as was explained at the telecast, already is beginning to pursue new leads, and our professional education program is expanding." Medical care in arthritis and birth defects is much like that for post-polio, Mr. Whyte pointed out.

"There are no epidemics," he said, "but the patients are with us all the time, and new ones occur at a more or less predictable rate. In polio the threat of epidemics hung over a community every summer and no one could predict the number of cases. New Cases of arthritis and birth defects occur all year round, year in and year out. We must do something for these patients continuously, just as we now do for post-polio. This is a real challenge to volunteers. I feel certain the people of this county will respond to it enthusiastically."

IT'S THE LAW

Neither Husband Or Wife Can Collect For Loss Of Others' Society 3d Party

(A Service of the Massachusetts Bar Association)
Neither the husband nor the wife has a right in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to recover for the loss of the other's society caused by the negligence of a third party.

A wife is entitled to maintain an action for personal injuries caused by the negligence of another and to receive full compensation for her personal injuries. Her husband's damages in such cases are limited to the expenses he has been put to in the care of the wife. These damages commonly consist of the reasonable medical expenses, such as money he has spent for doctors, hospitals and nurses. A husband likewise receives full compensation for all his personal injuries, and the wife cannot recover for the loss of his society.

However, when a third party alienates the affections of a husband or wife under circumstances entitling the aggrieved mate to damages, there is included in the damages awarded the fair value of the spouses society of which the wronged spouse has been deprived. The action for alienation of affections differs from the action for personal injuries; otherwise, one who had alienated the affections of a husband or wife would escape all liability for the wrong he has committed.

The Internal Revenue's recent decision to disallow the cost of certain utility advertising as a legitimate business expense will be strenuously fought by The Southern Company, its president states. In his words, the attempt "to deny the investor-owned electric industry the right to free speech" will be met with stern opposition.

After the installation of the officers, a testimonial was given for Thomas J. Woods, outgoing recording secretary, who has retired from the J. W. Greer Co. after having served faithfully for the company for many years, and also gave his best for the Local during his years in office.

The presentation was made by Pres. Whelan, and after this, was done, various kinds of refreshments were served to all members.

The Steelworkers have represented the J. W. Greer Co. since Feb. 1947, and have helped in Wilmington activities on many occasions. Of a good deal of importance is the Steelworkers Educational Program to be held this summer (August 3 to 8) at the University of New Hampshire at Durham. Pres. Whelan, V. Pres. Crowley and Fred Ingerson are planning this season to be among the people who will attend.

Methods of taking part in community affairs, grievance handling, also supplementary unemployment benefits, job evaluation, incentives, pensions, and just about everything pertaining to a man's livelihood will be discussed at this seminar. The men of the Local 3962 U. S. A. feel that what has been written here will be of interest to many of the local people.

We are in close harmony with company officials as well as Town officials and we feel that persons in Wilmington would want to know the how and why of the Union.

She was taken by several of her children to an Andover Inn where she was told she would be their guest for a turkey dinner.

Upon entering the dining room, "Maggie" was completely taken back with what she saw. Over 150 relatives, including her children, her 55 grandchildren and 69 great-grandchildren were all on hand to aid her in making this birthday she will never forget.
